In these uncertain times, it is crucial that commercial real estate lenders formulate a plan for risk management with respect to requests for new commercial real estate loans. Now, more than ever, regulatory examiners are scrutinizing commercial real estate loans in an effort to confirm that lenders have adopted prudent lending standards that address the many concerns of a changing economy. An essential part of any risk management plan for commercial real estate includes thorough due diligence and underwriting procedures.

With this in mind, Aldrich Bonnefin & Moore is pleased to invite you, your commercial lending staff and your loan administration and loan review staff to attend our BCG Webinar on Commercial Lending Update. During this Webinar, we will discuss the following hot topics:

- The Important Role of Appraisal Review
- Underwriting Issues When Financing Income Property
- Growing Importance of Alternative Sources of Repayment
